The End of Jobs

Imagine: the day has come when machines have finally taken all of our traditional paid jobs. What will you do with your life to define and occupy you?

Do you still need to "earn" money?

What will you do with your time?

How will you meet others?

What will you do for a sense of purpose?

Do you depend on a source of status?

Who will you be?

How will you add value to your community?

BONUS:

Does joblessness fill you with inspiration or anxiety?
Why do you feel the way you do about paid employment?
